Dear Mr. Grieves:

On behalf of AGC New Mexico's Board of Directors and member companies, I am writing to support passage of the APS and CNM Bond and Mill Levy ballot measures on February 2. AGC New Mexico strongly supports investments in infrastructure that result from deliberate planning processes and create the conditions for economic and employment growth.

The $575 million dollars in educational facility and technology investments put before the voters this year are intended to maintain and improve the learning environments for students in the Albuquerque metropolitan area. Such investments deliver broad benefits across the community. Equally important, the failure to approve and implement such investments leaves our students further behind, with costs that also reverberate across our community and over time.

AGC New Mexico and its member companies have publicly promoted and financially supported this campaign, both collectively and independently. We look forward to passage of these ballot measures on February 2 to benefit our schools, our community, and our economy, now and in the future. We also look forward to continuing the dialogue among our educational institutions and our commercial construction industry about how to authentically and equitably advance opportunities across our community.

We appreciate your efforts on behalf of our community's future prospects.

Thank you,

Michael A. Puelle
